Later, a similar announcement was made in respect of the autonomous State of Meghalaya. On further consideration Government have come to the conclusion that the Mizo District of Assam and the North East Frontier Agency should also be separated from the State of Assam and made into Union territories to be known as Mizoram and Arunachal Pradesh, respectively.

2. The Bill seeks to establish the new States of Manipur and Tripura, and form the new State of Meghalaya and the new Union territories of Mizoram and Arunachal Pradesh by reorganisation of the existing State of Assam. The Bill also seeks to define the territories of the new States and Union territories and makes the necessary supplemental, incidental and consequential provisions regarding representation in Parliament and in the Legislative Assemblies of the States and other matters. The Bill further provides for the constitution of a common High Court for all the States in the north-eastern region and a common Bar Council. The common High Court will also have jurisdiction in the new Union territories.

3. As required by the proviso to article 3 of the Constitution, this Bill was referred by the President to the Legislature of the State of Assam for expression of its views.

4. The notes on clauses explain in detail the various provisions of the Bill.
