Yearly income of agricultural labourer-Calculation of -Income calculated at 4/- per day of a male and at Rs. 3/- per day of a female-Working month consisting of 15 days- Held, income has been calculated correctly.

On the basis of the evidence led by Jethmal, the court has calculated the amount of income of the male members at the rate of Rs. 4/- per day and that of the lady at the rate of Rs. 3/- per day by labour. He has also taken into consideration the fact that average working days were about 15 days in a month. This reasoning is well founded because agricultural labourers have seasonal work and many a times remain idle.-
[Jethmal & Anr. Vs. Ramvilas & Babulal, 1979 WLN 670]

S. 2(a)- Word 'house hold income'.-Explained-Collective income of all members living in a family is 'household income'.

The legislature by using the term house hold income means the income of all those living together in the same house and comprising a family.

The word 'whose' is used as singular and plural-both. The word 'from all sources' succeeding the term 'Household Income' of whatever type of all the members that is to say the income should come to the family from whatever source it may be. The individual income of each members of the family dwelling in the same house is a source and, therefore, the income of all the family members residing in the same house and comprising a household will have to be taken into consideration in calculating the income of the judgment-debtor. To my mind, the meaning of the 'Household' is too plain to import any other meaning, that it is the collec-tive income of all the members of the family living together-.

[Jethmal & Mr. Vs. Ramvilas & Babulal, 1979 WLN 670.]

Debtor of other State also benefited.

The interpretation of the Act should be such which is in consonance with the fundamental rights and directive principles and is not violative of it. The object to provide liquidation of indebtedness is wide enough to cover and merely because the preamble says in Rajasthan, it cannot mean that only of the rural population of Rajasthan and not of Madhya Pradesh or other States. It would therefore, interpret these provisions to make them harmonious to the directive principles of Art. 46 of the Constitution and further to be consistent with Art. 14 of the Constitution. So interpreted this Act of Rajasthan, whenever it is interpreted or applied in the Courts of Rajasthan, for the purposes of giving effect to the objects of the Act, would provide protection and benefit to all scheduled debtors who can legitimately prove that their case comes in that category even though their land may be situated in some other State so long as litigation is being conducted in the Courts of Rajasthan.

The Constitutional mandate of Art. 46 read with Art. 14 is universally applicable for Indian Union from Kashmir to Kanyakumari and Kutch to Calcutta. It is the clarion call for equality before law which in terms inspires unity and integrity of the people, irrespective of place of birth or residence. This act of liquidation of debts of marginal farmers, who are poor and downtrodden and who have been suppressed, oppressed and repressed and consequently depressed on account of centuries of exploitation by landlords on the one hand and rich money lenders and creditors on the other hand, is to emancipate and release them from the above exploitation. It would, therefore, be not material to the economic status of the Indian citizen of marginal farmer as to which part of the country he resides, as the Rajasthan laws would liquidate his debts the moment they become subject matter of litigation of Rajasthan Courts.

Thus interpreted, Jhabua's, marginal framer who has got the certificate of Tehsildar would be entitled to the protection of this Rajasthan Act. [Sagarmul Vs. MIS Laxmi Vastra Bhandar AIR 1987 Raj 112 = 1987 RLR 110=1987(1) WLN 103.]

5. Power to issue certificate.- The Tehsildar, Naib Tehsildar and Inspector Land Records within the local limits of whose jurisdiction a debtor actually and voluntarily resides, or carries on business, or personally works for gain and such other officer or authority as may be prescribed shall be competent to issue a certificate in the prescribed form and manner certifying that the debtor is an agricultural labourer, a marginal farmer or a rural artisan.

COMMENTARY

Judgment debtor producing certificate of Tehsildar issued under S. 5 in execution of money decree- Presumption of his being scheduled debtor to be raised.

It is clear that as per the provisions of S. 6 of the act, as presumption has to be drawn when a certificate of Tehsildar is issued that the petitioner is scheduled debtor. However, this presumption is rebuttable and the non-petitioners are at liberty to adduce such evidence, which may disprove the correctness of the certificates. The certificate cannot be ignored merely on the ground that the Tehsildar had made no enquiry. [Rameshwar Vs. Purshottam, 1987 (1) RLR 508.]

6. Presumption and burden of proof.- Where in any proceeding for the recovery of debt in a civil court, the debtor produces a certificate issued in his favour under Section 5, the civil court shall presume that the debtor is a scheduled debtor and the burden of proving to the contrary, shall lie on the creditor.

7. Property of scheduled debtor to be freed from mortgaged, etc. –

(1) All property belonging to a scheduled debtor which was, immediately before the commencement of this Act under any mortgage, charge, lien or other incumbrances in connection with any debt owed by a scheduled debtor shall, in so far as it is relatable to such debt, stand freed and discharged from such mortgage, charge, lien or other incumbrances and where any such property was, immediately before the commencement of this act, in the possession of the mortgages or the holder of the charge, lien or incumbrance, such property shall except where it was subject to any other charge, on such commencement, be restored to the possession of the scheduled debtor.

(2) If any delay is made in restoring any property, referred to in sub-section (1), to the possession of the scheduled debtor, such debtor shall be entitled, on and from the date of such commencement, to recover from the mortgage or holder of the lien, charge or encumbrance, such mesne profits as may be determined by the civil court within the local limits of whose jurisdiction such property is situated.

8. Resumption land disposal of stayed proceedings.- With effect from the date of commencement of this Act, the provisions of the Rajasthan Scheduled Debtors (Moratorium on Debts) Ordinance, 1975 (Ordinance No. 21 of 1975) shall cease to apply in relation to a scheduled debtor to whom this Act applies and proceedings against such scheduled debtor stayed under the said Ordinance shall upon such commencement be resumed and be disposed of by the civil court in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

9. Creditors not to accept payment against extinguished debts. –

(1) No Creditor shall accept any payment against any debt which has been discharged, or is deemed to be discharged or wholly satisfied under this Act.

(2) Any person who contravenes the provisions or sub-section (1) shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three years or with fine which may extend to two thousand rupees or with both.

(3) The Court convicting any person under sub-section 91 may, in addition to the penalties that may be imposed under that sub-section, direct such person to deposit into the Court within such period as may be specified In the order, the sum so accepted by him in contravention of sub-section (1), to be refunded to the scheduled debtor.

(4) The offence under this Section shall be cognizable and bailable and may be compounded by the Scheduled debtor from whom the payment was accepted.

10. Power to make rules.-

(1) The State Government may make rules for carrying out the purposes of this Act.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the forgoing power, such rules may provide for all or any of the matters which may be or are required to be prescribed under this Act.
