1. Subs. by Act 2 of 2000, s. 14, for “under clause (p)” (w.e.f. 24-1-2000).

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

In the context of the National Telecom Policy, 1994 which, while stressing, amongst others, on achieving universal services, seeks to bring the quality of telecom services to world standards, to provide for a wide range of services to meet customer's demand at reasonable prices and to provide for participation of companies registered in India in the area of basic as well as value added service, to make arrangement for the protection and promotion of consumer's interest and to ensure fair competition, it was felt to separate the regulatory functions from the service providing functions which will be in keeping with the general trend in the world. In the multi-operator situation, arising out of the opening of basic as well as value-added services in which private operators will be competing with the Government operators, there is a pressing need for an independent telecom regulatory body for regulation of telecom services and the orderly and healthy growth of the telecommunications infrastructure besides the protection of interests of the consumers.

2. Earlier, it was proposed to set up an independent Telecom Regulatory Authority as a non-statutory body and for that purpose the Indian Telegraph (Amendment) Bill, 1995 was introduced and then passed by the Lok Sabha on 6th August, 1995. At the time of consideration of the aforesaid Bill in the Rajya Sabha, the Members of that House expressed a view that the steps should be taken to set up a statutory authority. Similar views were also expressed by the Standing Committee on Communications. To achieve the aforesaid object, a comprehensive Bill, namely, the Telecom Regulatory Authority of India, 1995 was prepared and notice for introduction was sent to the Lok Sabha but the same could not be introduced. Subsequently, on 27th January, 1996 the Telecom Regulatory Authority of India Ordinance, 1996 (Ord. 10 of 1996) was promulgated with a view to confer statutory status on the Telecom Regulatory Authority. A Bill to replace the said Ordinance was introduced in the Lok Sabha on 27th February, 1996. The same could not come up for consideration and passing in the 16th session of the Lok Sabha. Consequently, the Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (Second) Ordinance, 1996 was promulgated on 27th March, 1996. Again the telecom Regulatory Authority of India (Second) Ordinance, 1996 (20 of 1996) lapsed on 4th May, 1996. Later on, the Telecom Regulatory Authority of India Bill, 1996 was introduced on 23rd July, 1996. This Bill was referred to the Standing Committee on Communications and report of the Standing Committee was tabled in both the Houses of Parliament in November, 1996.

3. The Government, after considering the report, decided to set up the authority on the lines of the Telecom Regulatory Authority of India Bill, 1996 incorporating therein suggestions of the Standing Committee with modifications and in certain cases without modifications. As the Parliament was not in session and the President was satisfied that circumstances existed which rendered it necessary for him to take immediate action, the Telecom Regulatory Authority of India Ordinance, 1997 (Ord. 11 of 1997) was promulgated on 25th January, 1997.

4. Now it is proposed to withdraw the Telecom Regulatory Authority of India Bill, 1996 which is pending in the Lok Sabha and to introduce the Telecom Regulatory Authority of India Bill, 1997 which seeks to replace the Telecom Regulatory Authority of India Ordinance, 1997.

5. The salient features of the proposed Bill are as follows:—

(i) the Authority shall consist of a Chairperson and a minimum of two and a maximum of six members;

(ii) a person who is or has been a Judge of the Supreme Court or who is or has been the Chief Justice of a High Court shall be eligible to be appointed as a Chairperson of the Authority;

(iii) the members shall be persons of ability with varied experience in public utility services who have special knowledge of, and professional experience, in the field of telecommunications, industry, finance, accountancy, law, management and consumer affairs. No appointment of a person possessing qualifications, as specified above, shall be made as a member from amongst employees of the Government unless such person has held the post of Secretary or Additional Secretary or any equivalent post in the Central or State Governments for period of not less than three years;

(iv) the powers and functions of the Authority, inter alia, are to-

(a) recommend the need and timing for introduction of new service provider;

- (b) recommend the terms and conditions of the licence to a service provider;
- (c) ensure technical compatibility and effective inter-connection between different service providers;
- (d) regulate arrangements of sharing of revenue derived from providing telecommunication services amongst service providers;
- (e) recommend revocation of licence for non-compliance of terms and conditions of licence;
- (f) ensure compliance of terms and conditions of Licence;
- (g) protect the interests of customers of telecommunication service;
- (h) settle disputes between service providers;
- (i) fix rates for providing telecommunication service within India and outside India;
- (j) ensure effective compliance of universal service obligations;
- (k) monitor the quality of service and conduct periodical survey of such service provided by the service providers;
- (l) inspect the equipment used in the network and recommend the type of equipment to be used by the service providers;
- (m) maintain register of inter-connect agreements and of all such other matters as may be provided in the regulations;
- (n) keep register maintained under clause (m) open for inspection to any member of public on payment of such fee and compliance of such other requirements as may be provided in the regulations.

6. The Authority shall have an in-built dispute settlement mechanism including procedure to be followed in this regard as well as a scheme of punishment in the event of non-compliance of its orders.

7. The Authority will have to maintain transparency while exercising its powers and functions. The powers and functions would enable the Authority to perform a role of watch-dog for the telecom sector in an effective manner.

8. In order that the Authority functions in a truly independent manner and discharges its assigned responsibilities effectively, it is proposed to vest the Authority with statutory status.

9. The Bill seeks to achieve the above objectives.
